Will Vote Monday To Elect A Circuit Judge

Voters of Will, Kankakee and Iroquois counties will go to the polls next Monday, June 3 to elect a fourth circuit judge to serve the 12th judicial circuit these three counties comprise.

The regular polling places that serve in all county and general elections will be in use. The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

There are two candidates for the office, both Joliet attorneys, James Barr, Republican and Angelo Pistilli, a Democrat. Barr is a resident of Joliet; Pistilli lives in Rockdale.

There were no aspirants from the other two counties. Will county is the largest of the three and its court calendar is the heaviest. In the past it has been customary for the judge from Kankakee or the judge from Watseka, in Iroquois county, to spend considerable time in Will county to relieve the resident judge of these three counties had to carry.

The other counties are growing however, and their judges have less time to give to Will county. The legislature voted to give the circuit another judge and it was agreed by the other counties that the new one should come from Will county.

Political observers give Barr an edge in the campaign, pointing out that he has the backing of attorneys throughout the circuit as well as various organizations.

Pistilli was defeated last November when he was a candidate for county judge of Will county.

Mokena Methodist Drive On For Building Fund

The Mokena Methodist church "Forward with Faith" financial campaign is now in full swing and campaign chairman, Tex Fant, has announced the appointment of William Welsch and John Pettersen as Section Leaders. Welsch and Pettersen have appointed the following six Team Captains: Elias Brown, Fred Werner, Robert Schutte, William Bradley, Jr., Lyman Teague, Jr., Harold Fitch. A training meeting was held for the section leaders and team captains last Saturday and this Saturday, June 1st an informative training meeting will be held for the 12 workers that the team captains will appoint before that time.

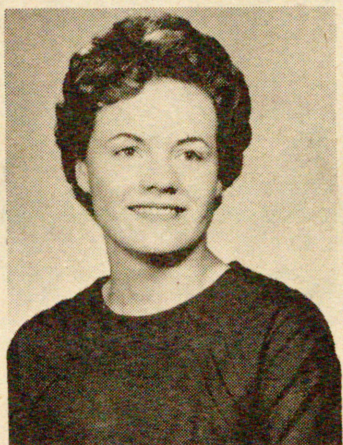

Tim Hull and Lynn Fitch, co-chairmen of the youth division, conducted a meeting for all young people of Mokena Methodist church on Sunday evening and the Rev. Robert Watson and Willard Barenz, lay-church-leader, explained the purpose of the financial campaign.

General chairman, Berle

Needham, indicated that the campaign goal is $45,000 which will be used to purchase five acres of land for a new church and parsonage site and to commence the building of a parsonage.

The campaign will also provide adequate funds for the operation of the church during the next 12 months. Needham pointed out that this was the first positive step towards the long cherished dream of a new and enlarged church and christian education facilities required by the Mokena Methodist church.

With the daily increase on demands upon the church facilities as the Mokena population grows, it is essential that a new church and parsonage be erected in order to adequately provide services for the congregation, the chairman declared. Needham added that while the campaign presented a difficult challenge, he was confident the congregation would meet the test and provide the commitments necessary to get the job done.

DOTTE JEAN ANDERSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Len Anderson, 110 Hickory Street, New Lenox, has signed a contract to teach in the Chicago Heights Public schools next term. She will teach 3rd grade in the new Wilson school, opening in September. Miss Anderson will be graduated from Illinois Normal State university on Saturday June 8 with a bachelor's degree in elementary education.

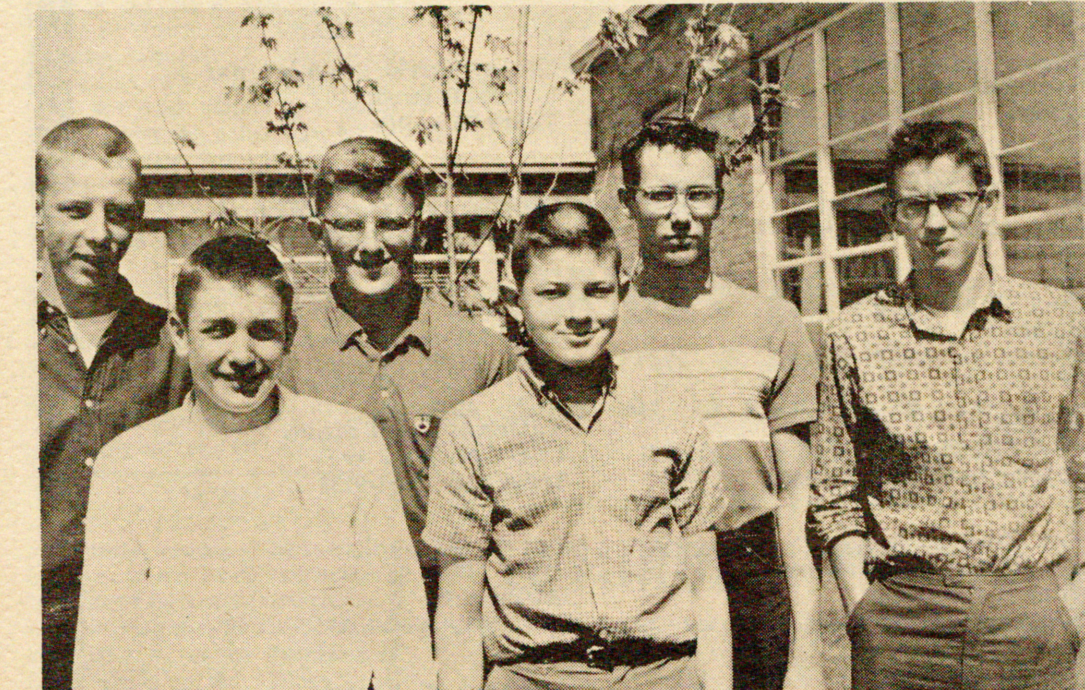

A 1959 graduate of Lincoln-Way high school, she has been attending the university under a four-year state scholarship. She did her practice teaching at Chicago Heights.

She participated in the annual Honors Day convocation in Capen auditorium, Normal, on May 15, receiving recognition with those students whose names appeared on the Deans List, for their high scholastic average.

Miss Anderson had been specializing in reading courses this past year and will tutor youngsters at her home this summer.

WAYNE G. TOWN, 157 Barbara Lane, New Lenox, has been appointed assistant chief industrial engineer of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway, with offices at Joliet.

See End Of Phone Isolation For Frankfort

Its only toll-free contact with any point outside of its own boundaries at present time is Mokena. About two years ago Frankfort residents petitioned Illinois Bell asking that the toll free area be extended to cover other points.

At the recent change to direct dialing Mayor George Sangmeister buttonholed telephone officials and asked what was being done about the petition. He reported his conversation to the village board and that body urged action and in a survey by the phone company of the community the trustees personally and officially went on record as favoring extension of the toll free area.

At the time it was noted that such service would necessarily result in a higher charge for service but the board members and a majority of the citizens interviewed in the survey expressed themselves to the effect that it would be well worth it.

Now the Illinois Bell has taken action. It has made formal application to the Illinois commerce commission for a plan which would allow unlimited toll free call calling from Frankfort telephones to more than 70,700 telephones. It has been announced by Don F. Memler, manager of the Lockport division in which Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox are a part.

Called "extended area service" by the company, the new plan, if approved by the commission, would increase the local calling area of Frankfort telephones to include Joliet, Chicago Heights, Manhattan, Mokena, New Lenox, Peotone and Tinley Park exchanges.

Not only would phone customers be able to call as much as they like for the basic monthly charge, it was said, but they would also be able to talk as long as they wished on each call.

For Frankfort customers, toll charges of 10 or 15 cents now apply on station-to-station calls of five minutes or less to the exchanges which would be included in the proposed local toll-free calling area. These charges would be eliminated under the new plan, while monthly rates would be adjusted to take into account the larger toll-free calling area.

Manager Memler pointed out that the number of messages to communities being added to the toll-free calling area normally increases by about four times when extended area service is introduced. "This is an indication of the added value customers receive from their telephone service with a plan of this kind," he said.

To prepare for the higher calling volume the company will require some time to install the needed additional equipment after final approval is granted. The extended area service should be ready within 24 months after the plan is approved.

"Local calling areas of even a decade ago are no longer adequate," Memler said. "This extended area calling plan, we believe, is in keeping with the needs of modern living."

Memler pointed out that substantial growth in population in the area as well as the growing number of telephones has been an important factor contributing to the increased calling from Frankfort to other communities.

Thirty years of teaching, personnel management, selling traveling and speaking have given him an insight into human nature that is reflected in the success of his speeches. In World War II, McFaul served with the navy from Attu Island to Iwo Jima. After the war he headed the academic department of the famous army school for the blind at Avon, Conn.

Mr. McFaul has spoken in nearly every state as well as Canada, Scotland, Irez Ireland and England.

Sets Book Rental Fees At Arbury Hills School

Final plans were announced this week by Supt. James Wrath for the operation of a text book rental system for Arbury Hills school. The rental plan is to be put into operation next fall in an effort to provide prompt and systematic distribution of books to children of the district.

The plan has been developed in an attempt to help the parents and youngsters in the following ways:

1) Enable each pupil to have a complete set of books the first day of school.

2) Allow for consistency of copyright dates.

3) Introduce new books into the program to strengthen the curriculum.

4) Reduce the cost to the parents of supplying books.

In order to reduce the cost of setting up the program, parents are being asked to donate or sell used books to the school.

The procurement of books will take place Friday, May 31. The teachers will handle procurement within their respective rooms on that day. The selection of used books will be made on the following basis: publication date and condition of book, and conformity to curriculum.

The rental fees to be collected the week of Aug. 26-30 will be $9 for grades 1 thru 4 and $10 for grades 5 thru 8. This fee will provide the youngster with a complete set of textbooks, workbooks, and Weekly Readers.

SILVERED HAIR now but their hearts are still young and gay as on the day when they were wed 60 years ago. The Charles Teagues (top photo) of Mokena, as they are today, will celebrate their diamond wedding Saturday at an open house. The lower photo shows them following their wedding in 1903. They are looking forward to greeting their friends and neighbors Saturday afternoon. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Couple Wed 60 Years To Greet Friends Saturday

In 1903 Charles Teague and Louise Balmer were married. The marriage took place in the Balmer home at 3635 S. Princeton ave., Chicago. Now 60 years later the couple is preparing to welcome friends and family members in observance of their diamond anniversary.

An open house will be held Saturday afternoon, June 1, in the Parkview Baptist Church, from 2 to 5 o'clock. The Teagues like people and they are looking forward to meeting old friends and new. Everyone is invited.

Mr. Teague, now 83, was born at Covington, O. Mrs. Teague is a native of Toronto, Canada. Both came to Chicago as children and were brought up in the same neighborhood and attended the same school.

And for the next 53 years Chicago continued to be home for the couple. Mr. Teague was a pressman and was employed as such by the American Tag Co. for 35 years. He retired from the printing trade but found too much leisure was fatiguing so he went to work for the American Bible Society and remained with that firm for nine years.

The Teagues came to Mokena in 1955. They are members of the Parkview Baptist Church.

They have two sons, two daughters, nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, all of whom are joined in having the open house for the honored couple.

One of the sons, Lyman, Sr., a former member of the Mokena school board, is now a resident of Prairie Village, Kans., a suburb of Kansas City; the other is the Rev. Louis C. Teague, Lancaster, N.Y. One daughter, Mrs. Pearl Burkhart, lives at Bushland, Tex., and the other is Mrs. Harriet Harling, of Mokena.

Says Leafy

Residue Clogs Sewage Plants

Grass cuttings and leafy vegetables that find their way into a sewage disposal plant are not digested by the process. They just remain there and eventually clog up the works.

This warning was given the New Lenox village board by Trustee Chester Bowman, head of the sewer committee.

Bowman stated that at Jasper Ind., the city council had banned the use of garbage grinders. Some markets, Bowman said, have installed grinders to dispose of vegetable tops down the sewers.

New Lenox is considering banning the use of such machines. Too much roughage has caused some kinks in the digestive system of the sewage plant, Bowman reported.

Mokena School To Serve Arbury For Commencement

Arbury Hills school will conduct the first independent graduation exercises in the history of the Summit Hill District, Saturday, June 1. The exercises are to begin at 7:30 p.m., and are to be held in the Carpenter Street school at Mokena. The Summit Hill youngsters have previously participated in joint exercises conducted by the county schools office. This practice has been discontinued this year and the size of the Arbury Hills school has made their own graduation a necessity.

The new addition to the Arbury Hills school is not finished so the Mokena school board generously offered its facilities for the ceremony.

O, To Be In England, When Spring Is HERE

Now and then one can still find quartet giving out in close harmony on "Roses Are Blooming In Picardy" and it is still a very good piece but they haven't been singing that around Fairways Estates, or Silver Lake Estates this spring, nor have any of the Silver Lake Country club golfers been giving voice to the tune in locker room serenades.

There has been an odor there, all right, but no one would liken it to roses or even the humble lilac or lavender, altho Henry Rafacz who is connected with a pig raising business in the neighborhood told the Orland Park village board Monday night that he has been trying different concoctions in an effort to abate the odor but so far has not been successful.

To state it boldly and without finess where there are pigs there must be pig droppings. Disposing of this product is a problem and Mr. Rafacz said he would appreciate some help on the subject. He said he had not only tried giving it away to any farmers or anyone else for that matter and has even offered to pay so much a load to cart the stuff trucked off the premises.

"It is too bad," he told the village board, "that we can't haul it to the fields in zero weather and plow it in. People have their windows shut then and I am sure that would be a happy solution but you can't work frozen ground. So one has to wait until spring. And in the spring when you spread that stuff or plow or disk it in -- let's face it -- it smells. We don't like the smell either but what is one going to do?"

Mayor W.R. Schussler, Jr., told Mr. Rafacz that he sympathized with him but after all the curbing, shutting off, or putting an end to this odor was his problem.

"We have been getting a lot of complaints about this order," the mayor said. "The people want it stopped and we want it stopped, and I am sure that you want it stopped and unless it is stopped someone is going to be arrested."

Trustee Lloyd Cowan who usually has an encouraging word for those beset by trouble could master up only cold comfort for Mr. Rafacz.

"Those chemicals, Henry," he said. "The Chicago sanitary district has spent millions of dollars over the years in trying to do away with the smell of the sludge and they still have a problem."

One of the troubles, it was pointed out, is that the country has been so invaded by city people that there isn't much room for a farm any more. This odor business it was said, is not a chronic condition, just seasonal.

NOTICE OF LETTING
Sealed proposals will be received by the Village of Mokena, Illinois, at the office of the Village Clerk until 4:00 P.M., on the 4th day of June 1963, and at that time publicly opened and read, for the maintenance of streets under the Motor Fuel Tax Law.

Proposals shall be submitted on forms which may be obtained from the Village Clerk and shall be enclosed in an envelope marked "Material Proposal, Maintenance".

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities in the bidding.

Proposal guarantee in the amount of 10% of the bid will be required.

MAP SHOWS path of Northern Illinois Gas Company's new 30-mile natural gas supply pipeline (heavy dark line). Pipeline will bring additional gas supplies from E-W Tollway near Lisle to southern suburban area.

NI-Gas To Install Large Supply Line Thru Area

The Illinois commerce commission recently approved Northern Illinois Gas Company's plans to construct a new large-diameter 30-mile natural gas supply pipeline thru townships in DuPage, Cook and Will counties.

According to C. J. Gauthier, NI-Gas vice-president of operations, the commission approval also enables the gas company to build and maintain a regulator station at the pipeline's terminal point in Crestwood. He said the pipeline will pass thru Lisle and Downers Grove townships in DuPage county; Lemont, Orland Park, Palos, Bremen and Worth townships in Cook county; and Homer township in Will county.

The new supply line will branch off an existing NI-Gas line at the East-West tollway near the eastern edge of Lisle (about 20 miles west of Chicago's Loop). NI-Gas will lay about 17 miles of 36-inch main southward thru the eastern edge of Argonne National Laboratory property, and then cross the Chicago ship canal to Goodings Grove, near 143rd street. At that point 12 miles of 30-inch main will start eastward, skirting the northern edge of Orland Park and then to the terminus in Crestwood.

Gauthier said NI-Gas will begin construction early in July, and hopes to complete the line in about 90 days. He said the new pipeline would enable NI-Gas to better meet the growing natural gas needs

Mayor Outlines Duties Of New Lenox Trustees

Standing committees that are to serve the village of New Lenox for the ensuing year have been named by Mayor Stanley Gilmore and approved by the council.

In announcing the appointments the mayor outlined the duties of each, not so much for the committee head but for the information of the public.

The divisions are outlined as follows:

Don Anderson - Police department. In view of the turnover in police department personnel, we believe that another program of instruction including target practice and police routines as offered by FBI and Chicago police department should be started. Pressure to get deputy-sheriff badges for Chicago police department should be started. Pressure to get deputy-sheriff badges for our patrolmen should be continued. In our opinion, a police board has little value so it will not be used for the time.

Robert Randolph - Public property, parks, recreation. Biggest project here would be planning a scheme of parks and recreational areas for the village. Basis for this, ideally, would be the tract known as the Methodist Camp Ground. Sewer plant tract should be smoothed so that the whole area can be moved. Program of replacing trees of village streets should be started. Street light layout should be studied with a view to extending outward to the new village limits.

Chester Bowman - Planning and zoning. Includes working with the plan commission and zoning board to push forward an aggressive plan for village development. Basic plans for sanitary sewers, storm sewers, and public water service should be prepared for the entire area, so that new annexations can be served as part of an established pattern.

Robert Bishop - Health and sanitation. Control of health problems, stray dogs, etc. Includes, also, sharpening up operation of sewer system so that proper maintenance is done proper records kept, and studies carried forward to reduce troubles from rain-water flooding, etc.

Eugene Hunt - Streets. Planned street work should include a listing of projects to be carried out in the coming year, with associated with extending into the township must be solved. Village limit signs with suitable speed limits extended into new areas. Sidewalk problem must be considered, especially problem of motor fuel tax contribution to cost of sidewalks. Railroad crossing gates to new bowling alley may be necessary.

Evans Drotts - Business and finance. Control of village's money. Successful installation and operation of new village office, business secretary. Insurance problems. Problems associated with subdivisions and building codes.

The committee is raising funds to employ engineers to make a comprehensive study of the water supply and needs of the region.

State surveys show the water table dropping at an increasing rate as the population and industrial growth of the region makes greater demands on the water supply, Mr. Westby said.

More sources of water are needed, he added, and the primary purpose of the survey is to recommend what to do to increase the supply.

There is a big drain on the deep wells, it was said. Shallow wells and streams will provide sufficient water to meet future needs, it was believed, but how to attain this end is an engineering problem.

Westby said that from current information this area could not expect to get any water from Lake Michigan for at least 20 years. Other states bordering the lake are suing Chicago for taking water out of the lake and not returning it.

Mokena and New Lenox made similar contributions to the fund as the water problem affects all communities in the lower DesPlaines Valley.

Circus Will Aid Mokena Boy Scouts

The Mokena group is endeavoring to sell tickets in advance. "The purchaser will save money," Ryder said, "and the Boy Scout troop the Chamber has sponsored will benefit through a percentage of the profits."

The Scouts, Ryder said, are helping in the ticket sale which is to become a door-to-door affair.

The 1963 edition of Mills Bros. circus, according to the advance man, features quite an array of stars, including aerialists, acrobats, clowns, jugglers, wire walkers, an all-girl aerial ballet and an Arabian Nights opening spectacle.

There will also be an elephant ballet and a liberty horse act.

Boat Camping Can Add Outdoor Fun

While millions of Americans are camping this summer, other millions will be enjoying vacations built around boating. There will also be those families who combine the two for a fun-filled vacation of boat camping, an activity that has become increasingly more popular in the last few years. Let's take a closer look at this boating and camping combination.

The two are completely compatible, probably more so than any other pair of outdoor activities. One adds to the enjoyment of the other, according to the Evinrude Boating News. For example, a boat allows campers a chance to get out on the water to catch fresh fish for tasty, camp meals, to explore the area, water ski, cruise and go skin diving.

Camping, on the other hand, provides a home base for boating enthusiasts who want to be on the water all day but eat and sleep ashore.

There are two ways to boat camp and both have certain advantages. Most common is to trailer the boat right to the camp site so that the car will be available if needed. Another way, and it can be even more fun, is to trailer a boat to a jumping off place. Here the boat is launched, the camping gear is loaded into it and the car is packed, locked and left. The campers then set out for a camp site which is accessible only by water.

In the latter case where family camping is concerned, the camp site should not be located too far from a source of supplies. It should, of course, be far enough away to avoid congested public areas but close enough to conveniently get to a water front store by boat to pick up perishables and fuel.

In addition to the points already mentioned, boat camping offers other advantages. For one thing, the boat provides a convenient place to carry tents, cots, cook stoves and other bulky equipment enroute. This leaves more room in the car and makes traveling more comfortable for the passengers. A boat is also a real boon in keeping the kids happy. Camping in itself can soon get to be old stuff with youngsters. If a boat is available to break the routine, they will be easier to manage.

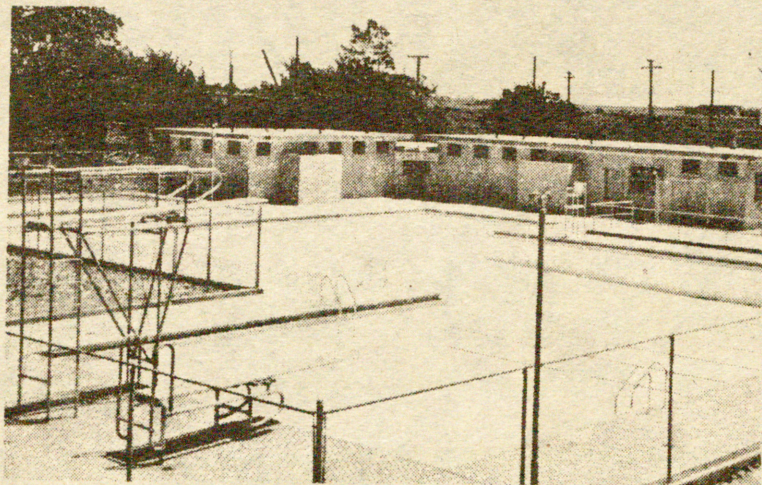

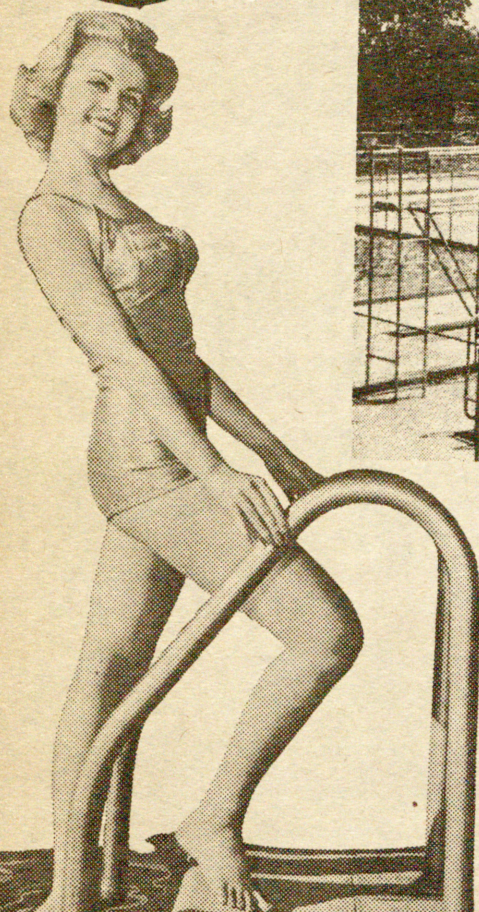

In most areas, trailer boat campers have their choice of numerous camp sites. Before setting out, however, it's a good idea to obtain as much information as possible about the area you plan to visit. Write to state conservation departments, local chambers of commerce and other organizations established to furnish tourist information on specific areas. Explain what you have in mind and ask for their suggestions and recommendations. You'll find most of these agencies eager to help you in planning a memorable boat camping vacation.

Windshield Wash

It has been noted that a bottle of any kind of "cola" soft drink poured on the car windshield while the wiper is working will keep road film off for hours.

While not guaranteeing its success with everyone, the tip is being passed on in the event it will work for you.

Extinct Wild Goose Makes Reappearance

The world's largest wild goose, the giant Canada, which for over thirty years was thought to be extinct, has been rediscovered in Minnesota, according to the Department of the Interior.

The huge geese, reported to range in weight from 15 to 20 pounds, in contrast to the usual 11 pounds or less for the other large Canada geese, were found by Dr. Harold Hanson of the Illinois Natural History Survey. Dr. Hanson, in cooperation with personnel of the Minnesota Department of Conservation and the Fish and Wildlife Service's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, trapped approximately 200 of the birds for examination and banding.

Although some of the geese in the flock were evidently of the well-known smaller types, many others were exceptionally large birds, matching in dimensions as well as color, the supposedly extinct giant subspecies.

The flock of giant geese has been roosting on Silver Lake, which is in a park in Rochester, Minn. The lake is kept partly open by the discharge of warm water from a nearby electric generating plant. The geese range widely to feed during the day. The present nesting grounds of this giant goose are not known with certainty, but small, scattered populations are believed to nest in the Dakotas, western Minnesota, and Manitoba. Their former range included a wider area in the Eastern Prairie States south to Missouri. Returns from birds banded this winter may shed further light on the location of the present breeding grounds.

A 22-pound world's record goose killed in Canada in the late 1930's was undoubtedly one of the giant subspecies. Although the giant Canada goose was well known to a past generation of hunters in the Northern Prairie States, present-day biologists considered it a myth until James Moffitt, America's foremost student of geese, was convinced of its existence.

In 1951, Jean Delacour, the internationally known waterfowl authority, supported Moffitt's findings by describing and naming the giant Canada goose after it was thought to be extinct.

Dr. Hanson is credited with discovering that the giant goose is not only still around, but even appears to have a sizable population that is adapting to man's changes of its environment.

Scenery, History Along River Road

A weekend motor trip over the 557-mile Illinois Great River Road will provide the family with a refreshing view of the Mississippi River, its banks, and dozens of state parks, memorials and historic sites.

Beginning in the northern-most part of the state, motorists can tour Apple River Canyon State Park, travel southward to Galena, site of U. S. Grant's home and Old Market House memorials.

Further southward, the road leads to Savanna and the Mississippi Palisades State Park. Then on to Rock Island and Black Hawk State Park, site of capital village of the Sauk and Fox Indian nation.

At Nauvoo, the family outing can include Nauvoo State Park and the Old Mormon Settlement. Further south, the road leads to Grafton and Pere Marquette State Park, site of where the white man first set foot on Illinois soil.

Near Collinsville is located Cahokia Mounds State Park, North America's largest concentration of pre-Columbian Indian mounds.

Traveling on to East St. Louis, the family can make it an afternoon of fun while fishing, boating, golfing, horseback riding or camping at Grand Marais State Park.

Moving on to Cahokia, the youngsters can stretch their legs on the grounds of the Cahokia Court House Memorial, oldest court house west of the Allegheny mountains. At Prairie du Rocher is the rebuilt French fort and Fort Chartres State Park.

At Ellis Grove is located Fort Kaskaskia State Park and the Old French Fort located opposite the site of the first state capital.

Then its on for the final leg of the river road route with the excursion to Fort Defiance at Cairo. Here marks the joining of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Burnham Island and Horseshoe Lake are nearby.

Old Ferry Gives Way, Era Ends?

BY FRANK J. CROUSE

An era comes to a close...and a new one starts.

The Merrimac ferry, which shuttled automobiles back and forth across Lake Wisconsin near Baraboo, will take on a new look this year.

For decades, a six-car wooden vessel putted back and forth across the expanse of water, bearing traffic using Wisconsin Highway 113.

During those years, families would make fair-weather Sunday outings along the scenic highway. In later years as the number of motorists finding their way to the ferry mushroomed, neighborly get-togethers and picnics flourished along the banks of the lake. The wait for a berth on the old wooden ferry provided a convenient interlude in which to relax before continuing on with the drive to the Wisconsin Dells, Devil's Lake State Park, or the Baraboo Circus Museum.

On a given balmy summer day, cars would queue-up for a mile or more, waiting for their turn on the ferry. During those years, few motorists became impatient or irritated because of the wait.

Sometimes the wait could take as long as 45 minutes, but few complained. Called Wisconsin's most popular "boat ride," motorists would detour out of their way and tolerate the delay just for the sake of making the excursion trip across Lake Wisconsin atop the ferry.

And they returned again and again.

Beginning this year, the prolonged wait for a berth on the old six-lane wooden ferry will be reduced. A new 80-foot steel craft, holding some 12 vehicles, will greet motorists arriving at the lake.

No longer will families temporarily abandon their cars to search for an attractive picnic spot or hike to a roadside stand seeking a refreshing soft drink while waiting for the ferry shuttle service.

And yet, maybe because of new ferry, vacation traffic will skyrocket. If it does, the good old waiting days will return.

Maybe an era hasn't ended after all!

Charm Of Canoeing Is Its Restfulness

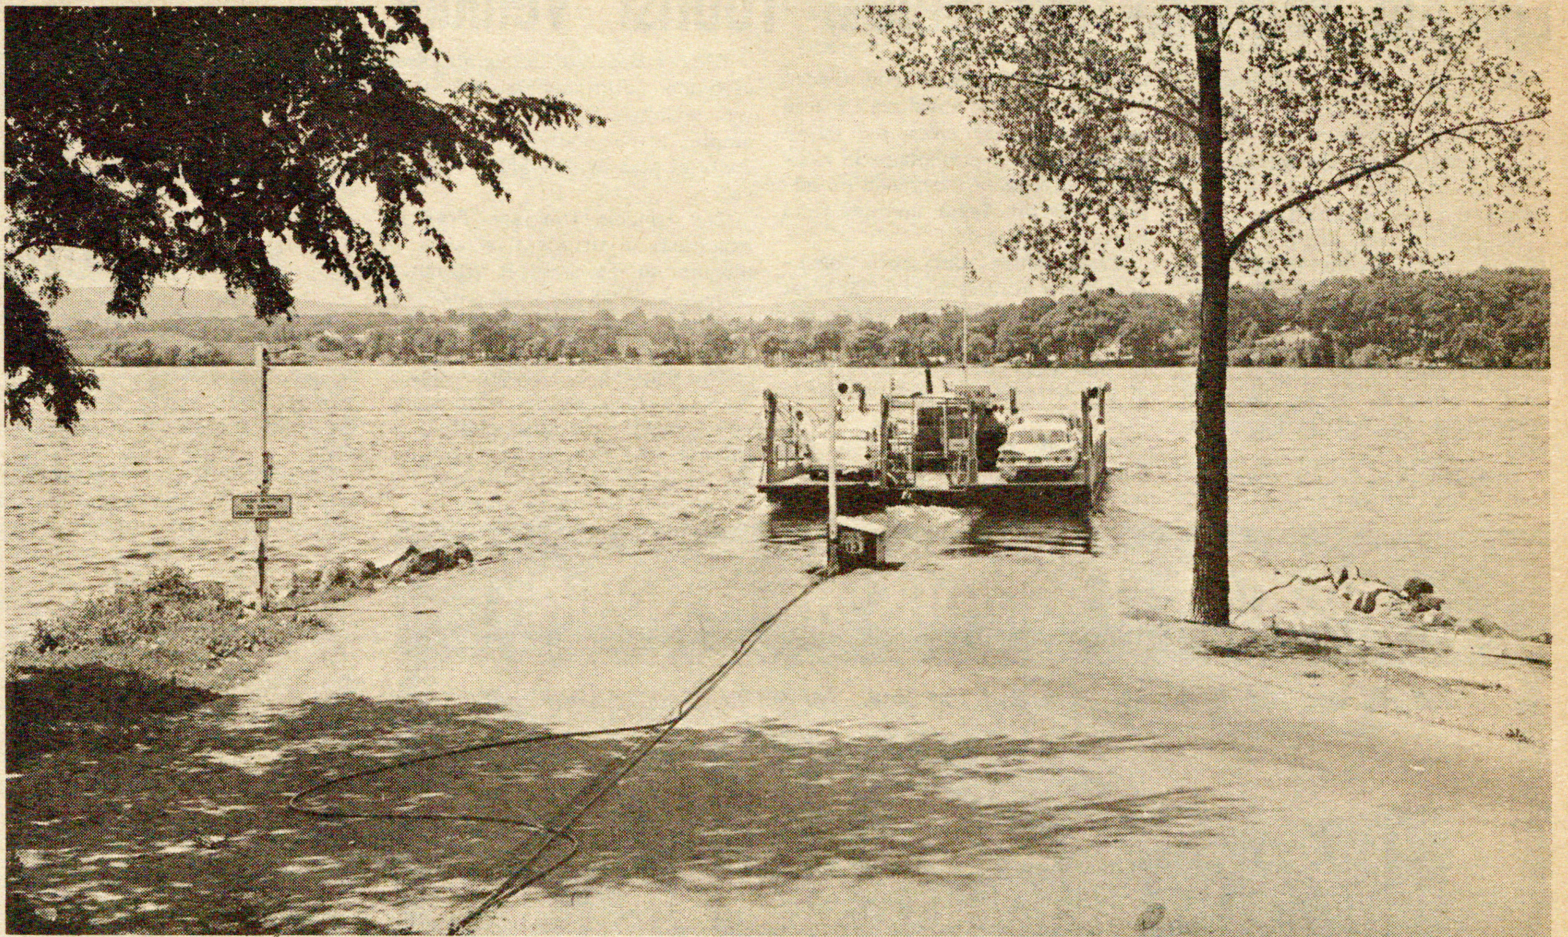

Canoe water is abundant in Wisconsin, and it isn't all exciting white water like the Flambeau in the north. The charm of canoeing is its restfulness. You set your own pace, drift with the current, meander into the wild rice beds, or admire the water lilies.

Because you make so little noise, you can get close to ducks swimming in the shallows, turtles sunbathing on the rocks, and herons stalking frogs in the cat-tails.

For Wilderness, Try 12 Apostles

There were only 12 Apostles, but Wisconsin's Apostle Islands number 22. Every one is a beauty, too, with rugged shores, dense timber, and wild grandeur.

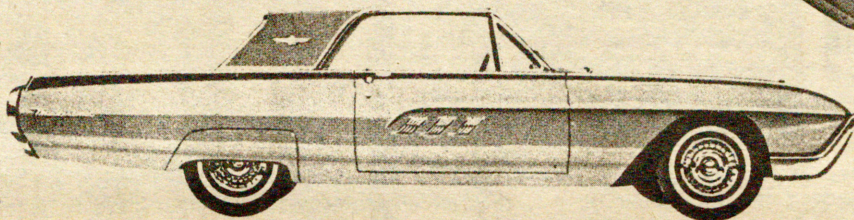

The islands offer boating, wilderness camping, fishing, and on Madeline, the largest, resort facilities and a museum.

Lincoln Heritage Trail Latest Tourist Venture

Finishing touches were applied earlier this month to a three-state tourist venture that holds great promise for the further attraction of vacationers into Illinois--the Lincoln Heritage Trail. Representatives and officials of Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana met at Kentucky Dam Village State Park in the last of three conferences concerned with the creation and promotion of the project. Previous meetings were held in Springfield, Ill., and Indianapolis, Ind.

Total length of the trail is about 700 miles, of which some 420 miles are in Illinois. Route traces the migration of Abraham Lincoln and his family from the Great Emancipator's birthplace in Kentucky, through his boyhood in Indiana and his legal and political careers in Illinois.

Trail offers tourists a "package" tour similar to the Old West Trail in five western states and the New England Heritage Trail in that part of the country, both of which have been huge successes.

Tourism is vital part of the State's economy. It is now a billion dollar industry in Illinois.

Illinois Board of Economic Development estimates that 24 tourists a day in Springfield, for example, is the equivalent to an industrial plant with a $100,000 payroll.

The Lincoln Heritage Trail is expected to attract thousands of tourists to the state. It will enter Illinois at Vincennes, Ind., and loop through Central and Southern Illinois.

The trail through the three states forms a loop and in each state side trails have been plotted. In Illinois, one side trail moves into the western part of the state and the other branch goes south.

Rock Hound Rally

Geological Field Trips Provide Inexpensive Fun

Areas in southern, western and northern Illinois have been chosen for the spring series of geological science field trips conducted by the Illinois State Geological Survey.

First trip of the season will be held April 20 beginning at Marion and covering Williamson, Union and Johnson Counties, according to tour leader Ed Odom. The second field trip, May 4, will start from Farmington and cover parts of Fulton, Knox and Peoria Counties. The final trip will originate in Belvidere May 18 and include parts of Winnebago, Boone, and McHenry Counties.

The Marion area, located at the southern edge of the Illinois Basin in a few miles north of the Shawnee Hills, contains excellent outcrops of rocks of Pennsylvanian and Mississippian age. Other interesting geological features are present and the scenery is outstanding.

Williamson County produces more coal than any other county in the state, and field trip participants will examine exposures of strata associated with the Harrisburg (No. 5) coal at an active strip mine. Mississippian strata in this area are famous for fossil specimens.

Farmington is centered in the Western Illinois coal field, where the Herrin (No. 6) and No. 5 coal beds are extensively strip mined. Pyritized fossils from above the No. 5 coal are nationally famous. Glacial and inter-glacial stages of the Pleistocene, or Ice Age, also will be reviewed on the Farmington field trip.

The Belvidere area includes an interesting sequence of glacial deposits which has figured prominently in the recent reclassification of the last glacial stage. Deposits of the "Winnebago Drift," once thought to belong to the third stage, are now considered to record an advance of the Wisconsin or fourth, glacial stage before its Shelbyville advance about 20,000 years ago.

Active limestone and dolomite quarries in the area provide opportunity for study of Ordovician and Silurian bedrock and for fossil collecting.

The spring and fall series of field trips sponsored by the Geological Survey is a unique state service, not available in any other state. Designed especially for teachers to provide materials and information for classroom use, the trips also are open to students, amateur geologists, rock collectors and others of the general public.

More than 2,440 Illinois residents participated in field trips held during 1962, an attendance record for the program. Occupations of field trip enthusiasts include those of housewife, farmer, highway engineer, industrial chemist, soil conservationist, welder, secretary, tool and die worker, oil geologist, and linesman as well as student and teacher.

Each trip begins promptly at 9 a.m. from high schools in the origin towns and ends about 4 p.m. Participants are responsible for their own transportation and should take a packed lunch. Trips will cover about 50 miles each with seven to nine stops. There is no charge to participants.

And You Go For The Big Ones?

Newspaper stories, travel folder pictures and tavern collections generally always feature big fish.

Yet surveys in Vilas County, Wisconsin's famous northern resort area, show that most fishermen go after panfish.

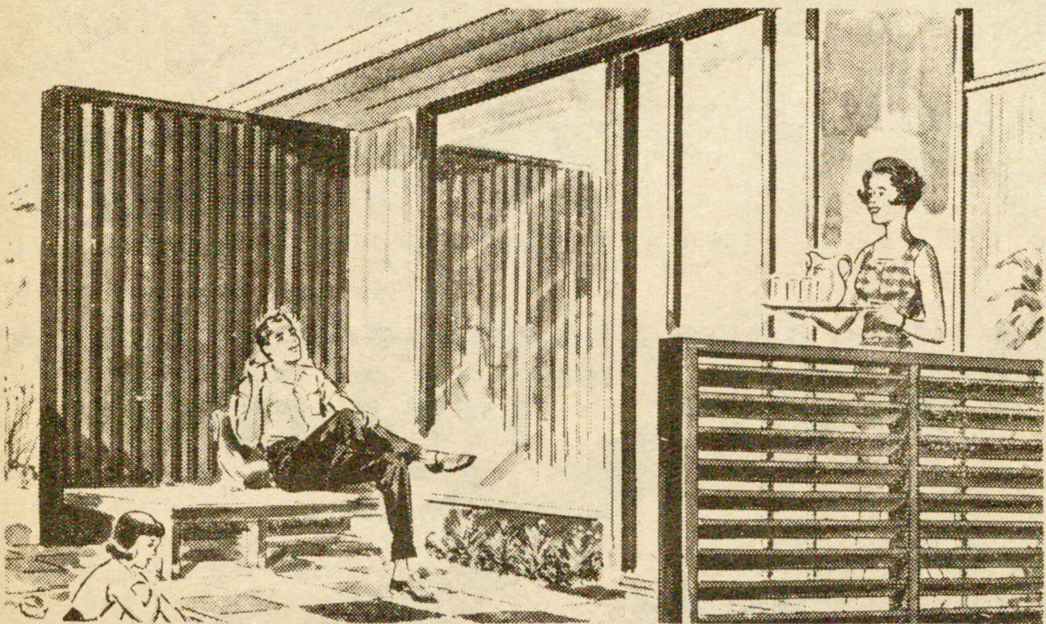

Muskies may draw the crowds but it's the fun-to-catch and good-to-eat perch and bluegill and crappie that provide the most pleasure.

Picnic Ice Cubes

For that picnic where a need for ice cubes arises, freeze up a batch using household muffin pans. Each cube is king size and will last and last.

Flowers Of The Bible...

By Roberts Mann
Conservation Editor
Forest Preserve District

"Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets" (Matthew 5:17). Reverently and humbly I venture to explain some of the myths and misconceptions that have accumulated about the flowers mentioned in the Bible. It is a remarkable fact that, other than the blossoms on flowering shrubs and trees such as the almond, there are only three: the lily, the rose, and the camphire.

Curiously, too, all three are mentioned in the Song of Solomon: "My beloved is unto me as a cluster of camphire in the vineyards of Engedi . . . I am the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valleys. . . Thy plants are an orchard of pomegranates, with pleasant fruits; camphire, with spikenard, spikenard and saffron."

The spikenard referred to is a Himalayan plant from whose roots was and is extracted a precious ointment and perfume. It is nothing like our American spikenard, a common woodland plant. Saffron, used in curry and as a yellow dye, is the product of several species of crocuses native in Greece and Asia Minor.

I SAY it is remarkable that only three flowers are mentioned because 3,000 years ago Palestine had a different climate and was a land of palm trees where wildflowers were profuse in spring. It is remarkable if you also consider that long sojourn of the Israelites in Egypt on the fertile delta of the Nile. It is remarkable if you study the New Testament.

Jesus was a teacher who knew the common people and knew the common plants. He spoke in graphic homely parables that people could understand: "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." But, altho HE spoke of the vine, the orchard, and the garden, HE mentioned no other flower.

The camphire or henna-plant is a shrub which, escaped from cultivation, grows wild in many parts of the Orient. It bears clusters of small, white or yellow, powerfully fragrant flowers. Its leaves are dried, crushed into powder and made into a paste used since time immemorial as a cosmetic.

ROSES ARE mentioned many times in the Bible. After exploring the Holy Land and re-examining Greek and Hebrew documents from which the Scriptures were translated, botanists are now agreed that a narcissus, a crocus, a rock rose and an oleander were variously referred to as "roses."

Of all plants in the Bible, the lily is most famous and the one about which there has been the most differences of opinion. Modern scholars believe that, in the King James version, at least five or six kinds of plants are referred to by that name. Undoubtedly, considering the context of certain passages, one of them was the yellow flag, an iris common in the Holy Land. Hebrew botanists are convinced that the "lilies of the field" were actually the chamomile, a plant with white daisy-like flowers, also common there. The lilies in the Song of Solomon are now regarded as being a hyacinth with deep blue, fragrant flowers, native in Palestine and Lebanon.

Also native and discovered growing wild in a few of the deep moist limesinks in northern Palestine, is the white Madonna lily -- our traditional symbol of Easter.

Camping Interest To Surge Upward

Interest in camping and driving for the pleasure of viewing nature's scenic wonders will continue to surge at a more rapid rate in 1963 than other forms of recreation, according to George Sims, manager at the Chicago Motor Club's touring department.

He based his prediction on a nationwide survey of trends among motor clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association. The clubs overwhelmingly reported increasing numbers turned to camping as a form of recreation last year, and anticipated the interest would be even greater this year.

"Some of the clubs said this indicated a resistance to rising costs in travel," Sims said. "But, paradoxically, most of the reporting clubs said the average traveler spent more last year on his vacation than he did the year before."

The survey indicated the Seattle World's Fair had a tremendous impact on American vacation habits in 1962. The entire Pacific Northwest, as well as much of the West Coast, benefitted from the Fair, the AAA travel counselors reported.

In general, the clubs predicted longer and more frequent trips by car in 1963 and a continued interest in visits to National Parks.

Family Camping, Boat Show

Outdoor Living enthusiasts who are especially interested in camping have a rare opportunity to see just what it is all about June 15 and 16.

The Travel Campers of Downers Grove are sponsoring the second annual Family Camping Equipment and Boat Show at the Downers Grove High School Athletic Field.

Over a hundred different exhibitors are expected to participate in this show, and as one manufacturer said last year "this is the only place in America where you can see on display so many different kinds of camping equipment."

A particularly interesting facet of the show is the demonstration Camping feature. Here the members of the Travel Campers Club pitch their tents in a real camp area around the outside of the manufacturers exhibits. Each of the members is a seasoned camper and will be happy to discuss problems, suggest what new campers would need and how they have made outdoor living more fun.

In addition, it is planned to hold a parade and select a Camping Queen. Admission is 25¢ for adults and a nickel for children.

A special feature of the weekend activity is the used equipment sale. Under the big center tent the Travel Campers Club is holding a sale of all kinds of used camping equipment.

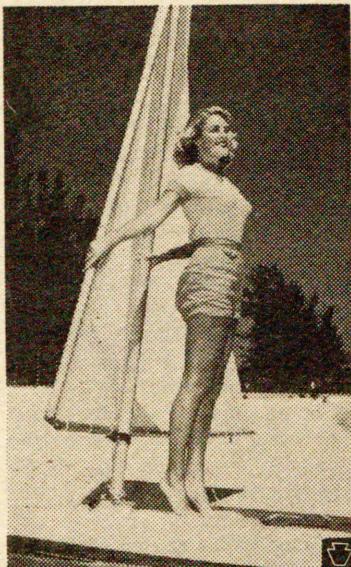

Ten Thousand people are expected for this year's show and it will be held rain or shine from 10 a.m. to sundown. It is located one block south of Ogden Ave. at Main St. in Downers Grove.

Combine Hiking With Sightseeing

With the current 50-mile hike standard serving as a challenge to hikers, avid pacesetters can combine exercise with sightseeing amid scenic areas in the north country.

Hiking trails are to be found in both of Wisconsin's vast national forests, and in all of the larger state parks and forests. St. Germain, in Vilas County, maintains a series of footpaths that wind through the pines and past lakes near this popular vacation community.

Holiday Idyll

Vacationing is the king of the walk in Nassau, Bahamas. Ocean-swept breezes and soft, sandy beaches; that's how the story starts. And what girl wouldn't like to be queen of the beach in a foreign land where romance, calypso music, swimming and other water sports are her maids-in-waiting?

TrafficDeathsHit New March High

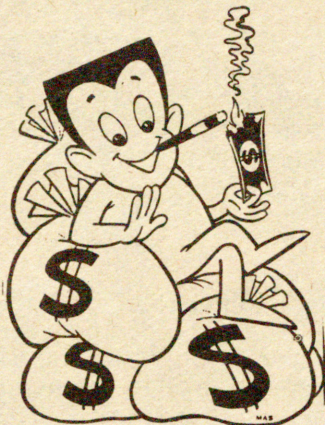

Traffic accidents took a record 3,120 lives in March according to the National Safety Council.

The toll was 6 per cent higher than the previous record of 2,940, set in 1956.

In the first quarter, 8,460 persons lost their lives, an increase of 4 per cent from 8,140 in the same months of last year. This was the highest first-quarter toll since 1956, when 8,546 died. The highest January-March toll recorded was 8,615 in 1937.

An additional 300,000 suffered injuries disabling beyond the day of the accident. This does not include minor injuries, which totaled hundreds of thousands more.

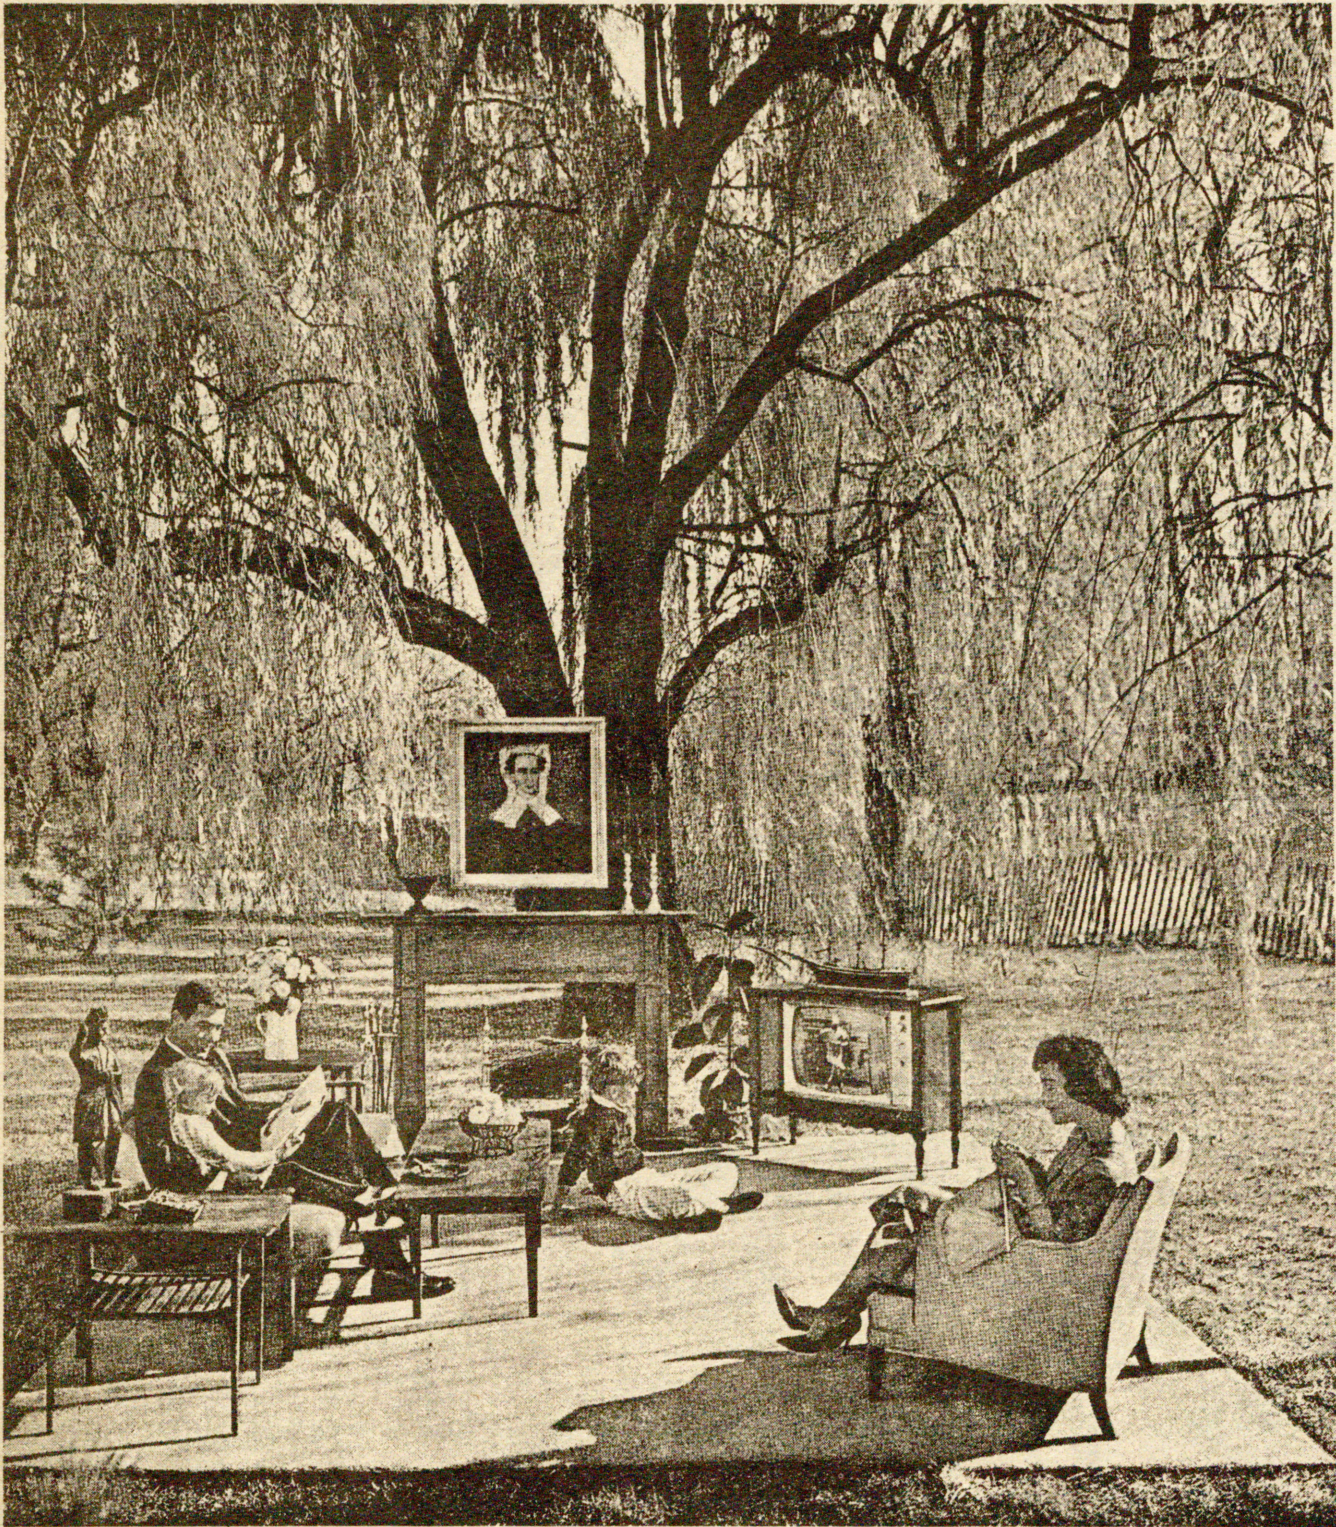

While the number of deaths increased 6 per cent in the first quarter, the amount of travel also increased 6 per cent. The resulting death rate for the period was 4.6 fatalities per 100 million miles, the same as last year.

Vacation Season Begins Early, Continues Late

Wisconsin's vacation season begins early and ends late, with lots to do in between, and events of interest to visitors are scheduled for each and every week from May through September.

On May 1, State Historic Sites open. The history of medicine at Prairie du Chien's Medical Museum, farm and home equipment and a village of the last century at Stonefield, the 1843 fur empire mansion Villa Louis, and Wade House stagecoach inn will entertain and instruct thousands during the long season.

Another popular site, the Circus World Museum at Baraboo, opens May 11. On the 18th and 19th, Stoughton's Norwegians swing into action for the Syttende Mai, Norwegian Independence Day. This is one of many nationality events planned in Wisconsin every year, and features folk dancing and smorgasbord.

On the 26th of May, visitors to Aniwa's Maple Syrup Festival can enjoy pancakes and sausage with this real native American sweetening, and on the 30th there's a Winnebago Indian ceremonial at Black River Falls.

The pace quickens in June, with the old-fashioned log raft race at Wisconsin Dells on the 8th and the Rex Mays 100-mile big car race at State Fair Park in West Allis. Again at the Dells, on the 15th, the daily performances of the Stand Rock Indian Ceremonial and the Tommy Bartlett water-ski show get under way. On the 16th, Eagle River's new Pleasure Island, with its children's zoo, logging camp, stagecoach rides and art gallery, will open.

Other big doings in June include the annual Strawberry Festival at Alma Center on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd; the June Sprints sports car races at Road America, Elkhart Lake, on the 22nd and 23rd; and the National Musky Festival at Hayward June 28-30.

July gets off to a good start with the first genuine old-time circus parade to come down the street in any city for many years. Milwaukee will be the place, July 4 the date. The world's largest collection of authentic circus wagons, all horse-drawn, will be featured, along with a calliope, band wagon, and circus animals. All the rolling stock will come from the extensive collection owned by the Circus World Museum at Baraboo.

From the 4th through the 7th, Two Rivers whoops it up with their annual Snow Festival, even going so far as to stage a snowball fight! On the 6th, there's a Menominee River Canoe Race at Marinette, Manawa has a championship rodeo on the 6th and 7th, and La Crosse has its Coulee Region Arts Festival from July 10 through August 5.

On the week end of July 13 and 14, Spooner has the Heart of the North Rodeo and Milwaukee has its giant South Shore Water Frolic. Vilas County, the northwoods vacationland, has its Blueberry Festival between July 20 and 28, and the Musky Jamboree at Boulder Junction on the 24th.

Late July features the National Log Rolling Championships at Hayward on the 26th through 28th, and Dousman Derby Days and Frog Jumping Contest on the 27th and 28th.

A sample of August events might include the Flambeau-Rama Festival at Park Falls August 2-4, the State Fair in West Allis August 9-18, the Venetian Festival at Lake Geneva August 16-18, and the Rock River Steam Thresheree August 31 through September 2. The September calendar is busy, too, with the big Wonago Rodeo at Mukwonago (September 6-8), Kraut and Wiener Day at Waterloo (September 28), and the nine-day Vilas County Colorama beginning September 28.

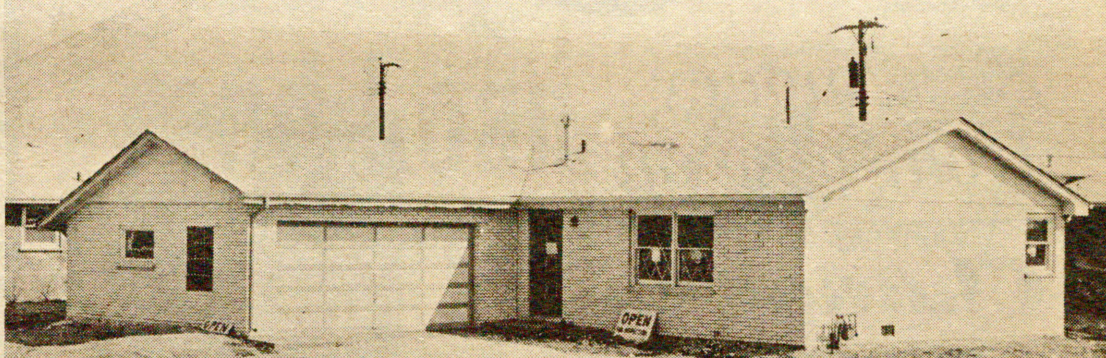

The pace slows a little in October, but there's still the giant Oktoberfest in La Crosse October 3-6, and Sauerkraut Day at Arlington on the 6th.

These are just a sample. In between are county fairs, horse and dog shows, festivals and feasts, auto races and golf tournaments. It all adds up to a summer - and more - of fun in Wisconsin.

WATER SKIING is becoming one of the nation's fastest growing sports. Youngsters learn fundamentals, wearing safety belts or jackets.

'Vacation Farms' Offer City Dweller A Treat

Have your children ever watched a cow being milked? Have they ever had a chance to feel a calf's rough tongue, to gather truly fresh eggs, to hear a cock crow? For that matter, have you?

Today, there are generations of city people who have never had a chance to experience farm sights, sounds, and smells.

There are plenty of farmers, left, of course, and Wisconsin has its share and more of modern, progressive, comfortable farms, producing dairy products, poultry, tobacco, grain, fruit and truck crops. Now several farm operators have added a new "crop" - recreation.

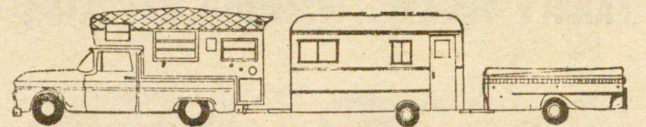

These enterprising people have listed their farms as "vacation farms," and welcome guests to come and live on the property, eat hearty country meals, and share farm life with their families. Some offer fishing in farm ponds or nearby lakes and streams, informal recreation, swimming, and easy access to traditional attractions like Wisconsin Dells or the Circus World Museum.

Although there's much variation in these Wisconsin vacation farms, all offer genuine hospitality and family experiences that are hard for city people to come by in any other way.

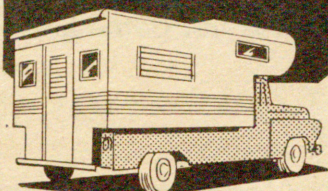

Try one and see!

A partial list of vacation farms in Wisconsin may be obtained from the Wisconsin Conservation Department's Recreational Publicity Offices in Chicago by phoning DE 2-7275 or dropping a post card to their offices at 205 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Hints For Better Barbecue Results

Shortly it will be picnic and patio time, and one essential help will be a bag of wood charcoal briquets. They burn with steady heat and give uniformly good cooking results.

Many outdoor cooks like to keep their own performance charts with this steady fuel, recording depth of firebed, distance of food from fire, and time taken to cook. With a few experiments, cooking time can be gauged accurately. Whatever the type of equipment used, a few general rules are recommended for best results.

In laying wood charcoal briquets for a fire, a pyramid is the recommended start. For an ordinary cookout, use about thirty briquets stacked to a height of five inches, more or less. Much depends on the type of equipment used. Deep bowl-shaped barbecues may require more fuel, shallow models less. An electric fire starter can be buried in the pyramid. Or you may prefer to use charcoal lighting fluid, following instructions on the can. Some families get good results using cut up paraffin milk containers buried in the coals. Whatever method you use, allow ignited coals to remain in pyramid until fine white ash forms over all. This indicates cooking heat has been reached.

Before placing food on fire, use fire rake or tongs to separate coals for type of cooking desired. Excess ash can also be shaken off at this time by a few hard raps at side of the barbecue grill. Here again the pattern of coals depends on the size and shape of the equipment you use.

For spit cooking, lit coals can be arranged in an open circle slightly larger than the area of meat or fowl to be cooked. Turned-up foil can be placed in the hollow center of the circle to catch drippings. Additional coals can be added to the circle for long cooking, or the circle of coals made deeper for more intense heat.

In shish-kebab cooking, the white-ashed charcoal briquets should be lined up in double rows several inches apart. Skewered foods should be placed on the grill over the hollowed areas so that meat juices fall in empty spaces between the rows.

For slow broiling, the firebed should be only one briquet deep, with briquets slightly separated from each other but covering an area larger than that of the food. This method is recommended for foods with high fat content.

In intense heat broiling, briquets should be placed close together in a tight square or oblong pattern slightly larger than the area of the food. Concentrated heat is recommended when searing meat.

In preparing food for the barbecue, trim excess fat off all steaks and chops. Cook over coals arranged in general patterns suggested above.

Additional briquets can be arranged at side of the firebox for vegetable heating or for warming extra courses for the meal.

Lit coals can be counted on to cook silently and efficiently for a period of from one to two hours. Final extinguishing should then be done with water and fire rake.

TASTIER OUTDOOR MEALS are in the offing if a grilled ham steak is served up with hot buttermilk mustard sauce or crusty fried fish is accompanied by buttermilk sauce tartars.

Diary Foods Work Well On Cookouts

It's time to get out of the kitchen and into the fresh air as fun and relaxation set the mood for summertime meals. June is Dairy Month and dairy foods are choice companions on a cook-out. They're quick, easy-to serve and satisfying to hungry appetites. Versatile, too. . . buttermilk, alone, can triple the fun on a fish fry.

First, dip that favorite fish, whether it be walleye, pike, perch or haddock, in buttermilk before rolling it in a seasoned corn meal-flour mixture. When it's fried in butter to a crusty golden brown, top it with a tangy buttermilk sauce tartar.

Ham is at home on a cook-out, too! For an exciting new flavor twist, serve a grilled center slice of ready-to-eat ham with generous amounts of hot buttermilk mustard sauce. This robust sauce is a canny combination of buttermilk, dry mustard, flour, salt and egg yolks cooked to an "easy dip" thickness.

In planning a picnic without a grill, this carry-along casserole is just the thing. It's hearty, hot and ready-to-serve whenever you find the perfect spot to stop.

Ground beef and noodles flavored with a zesty canned tomato sauce are mixed with creamy cottage cheese and sour cream, chopped green onion, pepper and luscious ripe olives. To save precious time during last minute preparations, this dish can be made in advance, stored in the refrigerator or freezer and baked just before leaving. Wrap the casserole in a large beach towel or blanket to keep it warm.

CRUSTY FISH FRY (8 servings)

- 2 Lbs. Fish Fillets
- 2 cups buttermilk
- 1 cup yellow corn meal
- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- dash pepper

Wash fish and drain thoroughly. Mix corn meal, flour, salt and pepper. Dip fish in buttermilk, roll in corn meal-flour mixture; repeat. Melt butter in skillet and cook fillets about 5 minutes, or until golden brown; drain. Serve with buttermilk sauce tartar.

BUTTERMILK SAUCE TARTAR (Makes 2 cups)

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 teaspoon capers
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento olives
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt

Blend together buttermilk, sour cream, capers, olives, paprika, parsley and salt; chill until ready to use.
